George L. McAllister is still in a precarious condition.

It was by mistake that we reported brother George Woodward ill last week.

Mrs. James Booth, of this city, will still be found at the old stand dispensing Merchandise as usual, and thanks all her Patrons for their liberal Patronage in the past and trusts that they will still continue to show their genial faces whenever they are in need of any kind of Merchandise.

Respectfully,
Annes Booth.

Mary Ann Wallace Woodward, wife of George Woodward, was born at Erie, Pa., November 17, 1841, and died at St. George, Utah, May 14, 1893.

She was a laborer in the St. George Temple and was a faithful Latter-day Saint.

The Cottonwood Canal is now in excellent condition and its water will be running in our city soon.

Bees have been swarming this spring, enthusiastically, and those who have chanced to be on hand in season have increased the number of hives on hand, but when it has been otherwise, the new swarms have taken for the hills. Those who have not yet got the top boxes on, will do well to attend to it at once. We believe the honey crop will be much larger this season than it was last year.

We had rain Sunday night, some on Monday and Tuesday, and a little last evening and today.

During nearly all the rain here, the high surrounding mountains were covered with snow, but it soon melts off on the lower parts of the mountains and foothills.

Our citizens who are lovers of flowers should prepare, during the summer and fall, for taking care of their plants in an economical way by erecting a green house, which is an easy matter. The other day we visited one that has stood the test the past winter, which was built of cloth, by George F. Jarvis, of this city, and were highly delighted with the fine array of various kinds of flowers collected is so small a place. It will pay anyone to visit this greenhouse and they will be sure to want one themselves.

Edward A. Dodge, son of Walter E. and Eleanor C. Dodge, was born March 10, 1861, and died May 13, 1893.

The funeral services were held in the St. George Tabernacle on the 14th inst. Elder James G. Bleak, and David H. Cannon, Prest. of the St. George Temple, were the speakers, who beautifully portrayed the plan of Salvation that has been given by our Heavenly Father for the benefit of all the human family, not only those who live in this gospel dispensation, but also has prepared a way where by those who did not have the privilege of hearing the gospel in the flesh may be redeemed, thereby showing his loving kindness equally to all His children. Spoke of the blessings of the marriage covenant that this brother and his affectionate wife have received for themselves that will last forever. Advised all to be kind to this young widowed mother who is left to provide and care for the six fatherless children, all of whom are left to mourn his loss.

OBITUARY.

A Remarkable Case.

Annie Elmer was born at Boxford, Suffolk, England, on the 7th of June, 1844. She became a member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latterday Saints, by baptism, when 8 years old; emigrated to Utah in 1866; was married to Wm. W. Smith on June 20, 1870. She started to work in the St. George Temple, officiating for the dead, March 1, 1877, and thereafter continued to labor for the dead as opportunity and her health would permit, so that she officiated for 1539 deceased persons during her life.

For years she has been a great sufferer from dropsy and has been tapped by Dr. F. Clift 23 times, as follows:

Date of tapping.	Amt of fluid, pints.

She lingered on, a severe sufferer, until April 21, 1898, at 11:30 a. m., when her spirit passed to that great beyond. Her funeral was well attended and all present were encouraged to emulate her good examples.

All who have used the Schuttler Wagons concede them to be the lightest running and best wagon made, but it is not generally known that there is an agent in this vicinity who can supply the public with this class of vehicles. Wm. H. Thompson, of this city, is agent and will be pleased to sell you a Schuttler Wagon, or a Solid Comfort Sulky Plow, of the Latest Improved Style, at the Lowest price possible. Be sure and give him a call.

Say, why don't you have that aching tooth pulled? J. M. Gates, will attend to it for you.

Let every reader of The Union preserve this for future use.

It is well known that dyspepsia or indigestion is very prevalent among the people and is also very annoying. There are a great many cures advertised and sold, often of no avail, the purchasers almost, if not quite, throwing their money away, as far as any benefit to themselves is concerned. Now I will give you a receipt that seldom fails, and one we have used for 40 years. It is well known that a chicken will digest almost anything and the work is performed in the gizzard, and it is the inside lining of the gizzard that does this duty. Every one that eats a chicken can have the cure. When you kill a chicken, take the gizzard and cut it open and take out the inside lining, cleanse it carefully and lay it up to dry, then when dry lay it carefully away until you need it.

In case of indigestion, pulverize a piece of it and mix it dry with sugar and eat it. As it is almost tasteless any one can take it without any trouble, and the result will be very gratifying to all who will test it. Now don't think, because this costs nothing but a little trouble, that it is of no avail, but try it and be convinced of the benefits to be derived therefrom.

If you want first class lime call on Edward Christian, this city.

Two women are said to have died at San Juan out of sheer fear of bombardment by a suspicious looking vessel at sea, and there has been a suicide at Aguilerada for the same reason.—Tribune.
